WILLINGNESS TO SAY YES

Jesus looks out at the crowds and sees people who are hurting, lost, overwhelmed, and searching for direction. Instead of criticizing them or walking away, He is moved with compassion. He sees their struggles, their fears, and their needs. Then He gathers the Twelve and sends them out to continue His work of healing, helping, and bringing people back to God. What's interesting is that Jesus doesn't choose perfect people. He chooses ordinary people. Fishermen. Tax collectors. People with strengths and weaknesses are just like us. The difference is that they were willing to say yes when Jesus called them. The same thing happens today. God continues to place people in our lives who need a little healing, encouragement, kindness, or forgiveness. Sometimes it's a family member going through a difficult time. Sometimes it's a friend who needs someone to listen. Sometimes it's the person we've been avoiding because a relationship has been strained or broken. Most of the time, God isn't asking us to do something huge. He's simply asking us to show up. To make a phone call. To offer a kind word. To forgive. To help. To listen. To care. Being a disciple isn't about having all the answers. It's about being available. It's about waking up each day and saying, "Lord, who needs me today? Where can I bring a little bit of Your love?" Jesus wants us to be people who build others up rather than tear them down, who welcome rather than judge, and who work toward healing instead of division. Every day gives us new opportunities to do that. The real question is not whether God is calling us. The question is whether we are willing to respond, yes.

What is God's mercy?
God's mercy is His great love that forgives us and never gives up on us.
At Mass, we experience His mercy most fully in Jesus, who gives Himself to us in the Eucharist.

How to Grow in Eucharistic Devotion (Even When You're Busy)

The Eucharist is the source and summit of the Christian life—but how do we actually grow in devotion to it in the middle of everyday life? In this episode of Practicing Catholic, Taylor Kemp and Scott Hefelfinger explore the beauty of the Eucharist and simple, practical ways to deepen your relationship with Christ.

St. Dominic Savio
